INTRODUCTION

Genesys Talents Expanded is a community effort to bring a wider selection of talents to the Genesys Roleplaying System, published by Fantasy Flight Games, to provide GM's and players more options for constructing their campaigns and characters. The bulk of these talents are from Fantasy Flight Games publications, mostly from the Star Wars Roleplaying games; Edge of the Empire, Age of Rebellion, and Force and Destiny. Talents from the Star Wars games, which do not fit the nature and/or standards of Genesys, were modified and/or renamed, or omitted altogether.

Additional talents, at the end of the collection, were created and vetted by the Genesys gaming community.

As long as the bond persists, the animal follows your character, and you dictate the animal's overall behavior (although, since the animal is only bonded with the character, not dominated, it may still perform inconvenient actions such as scratching furniture, consuming rations, and marking territory). Once per round in structured encounters, your character may spend one maneuver to direct their animal in performing one action and one maneuver during your character's turn. The animal must be within hearing and visual range of your character (generally medium range) to do this. Otherwise, the animal does not contribute to the encounter. The specifics of its behavior are up to you and your GM. For every additional rank of Animal Companion your character has, increase the allowed silhouette of the companion by one (this may mean your character gets a new companion, or their companion grows in size). This talent can also change in flavor depending on the nature of your game setting. While an animal companion may make sense in many settings, in a futuristic setting it may make more sense for the "animal" to be a robot or drone, for example.
